

A Partnership Opportunity

with the

Kingston Capital Men's Chorus

Mandate and current activities:

The KCMC provides male singers the opportunity to develop vocal skills and musical literacy, in a non-judgemental and friendly atmosphere, while preparing a diverse range of choral repertoire for performance. Rehearsals focus on strengthening vocal production, part singing and ear training skills, as well as mastering a steady stream of challenging repertoire created to exploit the unique characteristics of an all-male chorus.

The choir performs one major concert per season, often with a musical guest whose specialty will provide both an educative opportunity for the choristers and a rewarding concert experience for the audience. The choir also performs small benefit concerts for local charities and clubs/organizations. KCMC has performed benefit concerts for Hospice Kingston, Cooke's – Portsmouth United Church, The University Women's Club, Sydenham United Church in Sydenham, Ontario and as part of its community outreach program has performed in Rideaucrest, St. Lawrence Place and Briargate retirement homes.

Now in its sixth season the KCMC performs a wide range of musical repertoire with expression, accuracy, and a good ensemble sound with a strong sense of joy in singing together.

Values

KCMC believes that:

- Choral music is a transformative art that can alter the life experience
- The choral medium is one of integrity that values its art, its audience, its singers and its organization
- Singing fosters an environment of fun, of joy and of worth

Vision

Through a joint partnership between the choristers, their families, the Board of Directors, staff and the communities in which they belong, the vision of the Kingston Capital Mens' Chorus is to:

- Provide choristers the opportunity to pursue excellence and experience the challenge, joy and reward of choral singing at the highest calibre

- Develop musically through exceptional choral instruction, concerts and performances
- Build community within the choir encouraging personal development, social growth, friendships, respect, and accountability
- Foster partnerships to build and sustain the choir financially and musically
- Maintain financial responsibility in order to foster growth in all areas
- Be ambassadors for the city of Kingston

From Our Audience

“In my opinion, the season finale of the Kingston Capital Men’s Chorus, directed by Choirmaster Ian Juby is the ne plus ultra of the local choral music scene: a handsome group of fellas singing a wide range of contemporary and traditional favourites with great passion and joy. You cannot help but to be caught up in their enthusiasm.”

Mary J. Dickenson

“We thoroughly enjoyed every moment of their performance. The rich full sound of male voices in perfect harmony is wonderful and somehow uplifting. It was a highlight in our week.”

Linda Beaubiah

“I remember at two different times, when you finished, you could hear a pin drop. It was beautiful and I can’t wait to enjoy future performances.”

Ruth McNeil

“KCMC, under the outstanding leadership of its Director Ian Juby and a small management staff, continues to grow as an organization and most importantly with the quality of its sound.”
